

How can I improve my legal research skills and get paid at the same time?

Become a LexisNexis Student Associate.

An opportunity has arisen to increase your legal research skills and work for a major legal publisher.

LexisNexis is looking for an enthusiastic first or second year or research student to act as a representative on campus for LexisNexis Online Services.

The successful candidate will be able to offer 5 hours a week contact time to advise and help other students in their use of these essential research services. He or she will be very approachable and keen to learn how to use the services in depth. Full training will be given and on-going regular support will be provided. Applicants must be eligible to work in the United Kingdom. The contract will be for 9 months starting on 1st September 2010.

Salary is £8 per hour/£40 a week.

If you would like to be considered for this role, please apply by Friday 9th April 2010 (applications after this date will not be considered), by email to jobs@lexisnexis.co.uk. Your applications must be accompanied by a covering letter and a copy of your C.V. Please state "Student Associate" and your university in the subject line of your email. Interviews will be held on campus during May and June 2010.

There are also vacancies in all branches of the College of Law, BPP Law Schools and Kaplan Law School in London. Applications for these posts are invited from 3rd year LLB or GDL students who are continuing their studies at these institutions.

All applicants must be available for a 3 day training course to be held in London during weeks commencing 9th and 16th August 2010.
